“What lies behind us
and what lies before us are tiny matters compared to what lies within us.”

-Ralph Waldo Emerson

Dear Class of 2005,

After eighteen years, we have learned what is obvious to a child, that life is simply a collection of little lives, each lived one day at a time.

2005 marks a crossroads in the journey of these little lives. Here, we stand together at our most hungry and here, we stand together at our most full. Here, we stand together waving red and white capes, locking eyes with bulls. Our faces are bathed in sunlight and the things that lie in the shadows beyond us are hidden from sight.

Tomorrow is a new day. Look past the bulls and into yourself. How are you going to fill it? More importantly, how will you make it end? Before embarking on your journey into the future, accept this book of words and pictures as a journey into us, the Hingham High School Class of 2005.

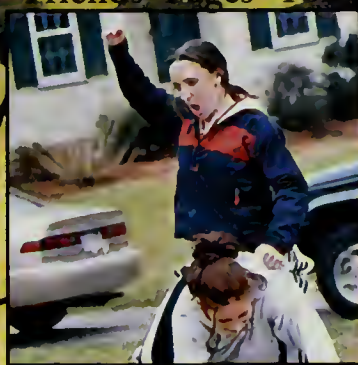

Best of Luck.

Day in the Life

7:55 A.M. Tara stops at her locker before the bell ▼ rings to signal the start of a new school day.

▲ 7:23 A.M.
Jenny is fast asleep... and twenty-three minutes late for her before-school Calculus lab.

▲ 8:03 A.M.
It has been three minutes since class officially started. Even early in the morning, Andy is a dilligent worker.

▲ 9:34 A.M.
Carolyn looks up from her music to find the clock. Only four hours and fifty-eight more minutes until school ends for the day.

◀ 9:51 A.M.
Jade gets up to sharpen her pencil. Only nine more minutes of class...

10:15 A.M.
Stephanie begins drawing an outline for her art project. If only art class could last all day.

10:42 A.M. ►
Finally, third period has arrived. Is Kate thinking hard about what to write, or daydreaming? You decide.

11:29 A.M.

There's just one minute remaining until second lunch begins, and Christine ▼ couldn't be more excited.

12:09 P.M.

It's lunch, arguably the best class of the day. For some, it's the time to do last minute homework assignments, but for Meghan and ▼ Emily, it's time to eat!

1:32 P.M.

G Period at last! Garrett and Mike make plans for after school. ▼ Just one more hour!

2:40 P.M. ►

Heather and Pat are on the job, selling candy to make money for the senior class.

5:23 P.M. ▲

After a long day at school, Joanna smiles for the camera before heading home to relax.

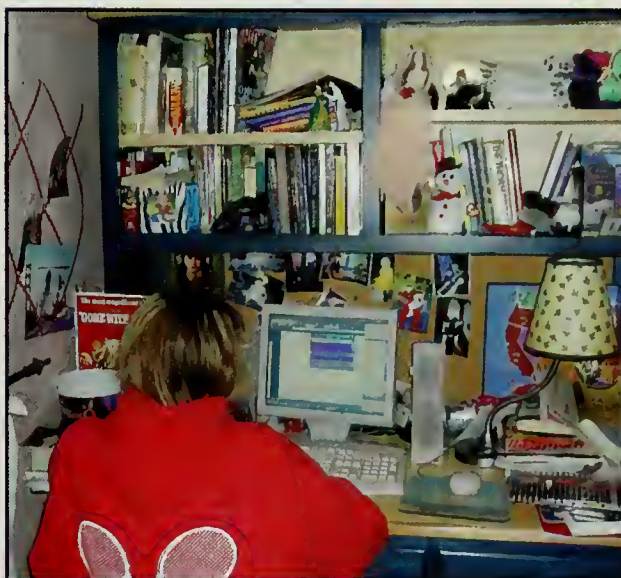

3:39 P.M.

School is out, but the day still isn't over for ◀ Lindsey and Molly, who are at rehearsal, reclining in the plush-polyester comfort of Auditorium seating.

4:12 P.M.

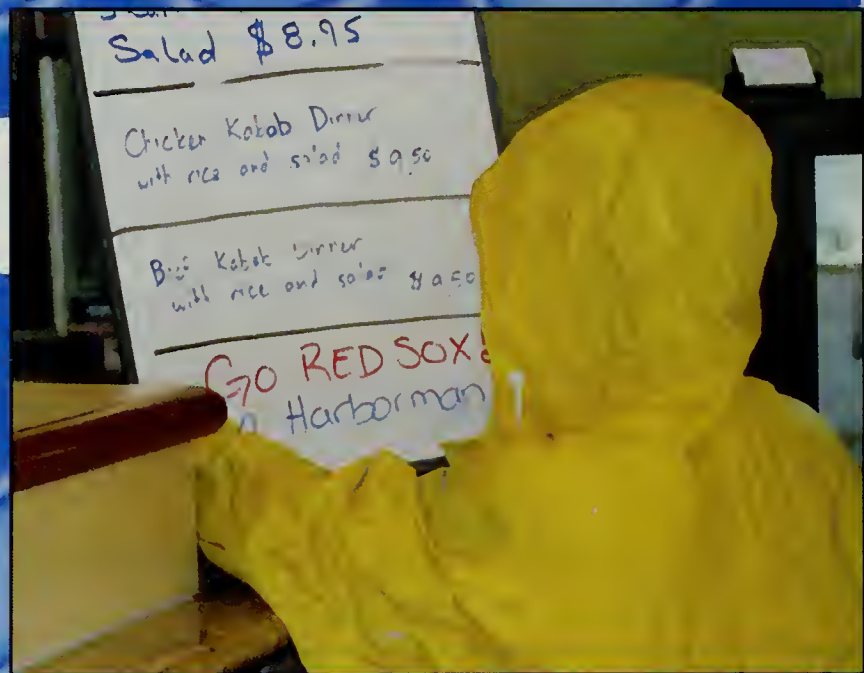

◀ Some of the senior girls gather on the bleachers, waiting for the football game to start.

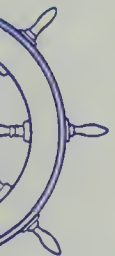

9:51 P.M.

◀ It's not that late and hardly atypical for Amy to pull up the AIM screen over Microsoft Word. Better get to bed soon, though; there will be another long school day tomorrow.

WHERE'S THE

HARBORMAN?

Homecoming

Homecoming 2004: When it rains, it pours, apparently. It started with the Pep Rally on Friday afternoon. It ended with a spectacular dance on Saturday night. It raised a good question: exactly how much SPIRIT does Hingham High School have?

◀ Defense, defense, defense. Very important!

▼ The cheerleaders keep the spirit up, even in the rain.

▲ The senior girls smile as the Hingham Harbormen defeat Quincy.

The Freshmen field hockey players put up their sticks for the Homecoming Court.

Lauren Blanchard escorted by Bobby Driscoll Marianne Black escorted by Tom Cushing
Sam Gillespie escorted by... himself (where's Kari?!) Courtney Wasson escorted by Mike Goulet

▼ Garrett and Whitney: this year's Homecoming King and Queen!

Natalie and Hannah sell Krispy Kreme Doughnuts to benefit the band. ▼

◀ Looking good, girls! From left to right: Liz, Jen, Liz, Kasey, Ellesse, Meg, and Cornelieke.

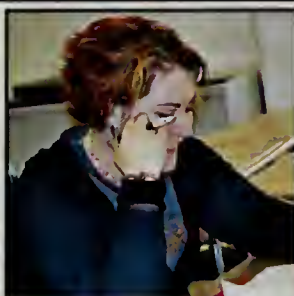

Mary, Steve, and Alissa are having a great time dancing. ▼

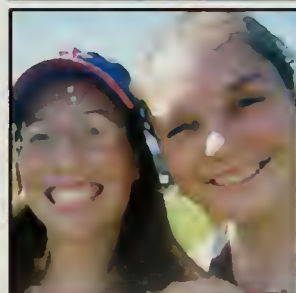

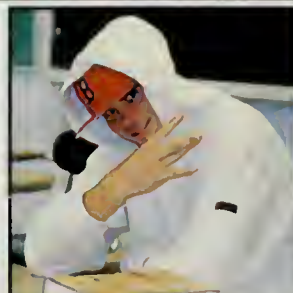

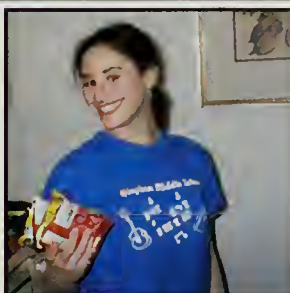

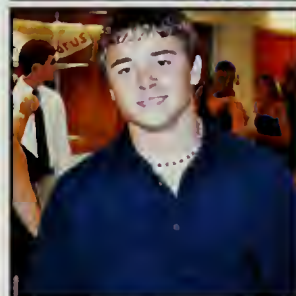

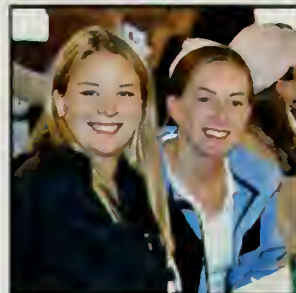

Danielle, Lia, Jenna, and Beth pose for the camera before the dance starts. ▼

Boys' Cross Country

The Cross Country team, under the leadership of Senior captains Jake Hagstrom and Ian Kirk (also the only Seniors on the team...) had a season characterized by limited success on the course but much hard work and determination both on the sidelines and at practice. Coach David Jewett brought fresh ideas to the team and reemphasized old values such as sportsmanship and group worth ethic. Throughout the season, the team ran side by side, pushing each other to the finish line. Over the course of two and a half months, every team member experienced improved performance and the huge balance of power lay in the strong core of youngsters, primarily freshmen. In the words of an inspired soul, RUN.

Girls' Cross Country

They came, they saw, and they conquered the course. The girls excelled under the new leadership of Coach Kates and blazed trails at their new 5K course around the school. They urged themselves ahead of the competition as Captains Lianna Baimas-George, Sarah Eaton, Jennifer Nielsen, and Laura Reese brought laughter and unity to the team of thirty-two. Needless to say, everyone survived summer training and the newly-instated time trial: two miles in sixteen minutes (Dun, dun, dun...). As runners, the girls achieved new PRs and shared in the raucous times at team events and pasta dinners. So, do you want a revolution?

Field Hockey

The Hingham High School Field Hockey team experienced great success in the 2004 season. Grounded by strong lines of Seniors on both the offense and the defense. Goalies Jen Galvin and Junior Caitryn McCallum geared up and deflected opponents' shots while sweeper Liz Whitney proved to be a powerful force in the backfield. Supported by coaches Ms. Gordon and Mrs. Bonner and Captains Susan Fallon, Sarah Johnson, Mollie Ruben, and Danielle Russell, the team proved to be exceptionally competitive. Several Seniors were also elected to All-Scholastic teams in the Patriot League as well as the Futures program for standout high school athletes. They will always remember: ONE TEAM, ONE FIGHT, INGA, and their campaign to beat the Dragons in triple overtime. Job well done, girls; it was an AMAZING season!

An undefeated force to be reckoned with, the 2005 Hingham High School Football team captured the hearts and dreams of Hingham Superfan and spectators as they competed in the Division IIA State Championships. In an awesome game, they suffered a heartwrenching loss to rivals Bishop Feehan. This talented group of athletes, led by Captains Mike Goulet, Guy Matisis, and John Murphy, beat Duxbury and captured the Patriot League title in stormy, rainy triumph in front of hundreds of fans. They spend long hours in practice, and every bit of the intense training paid off. Mingham's 2014-2015 ski team had a great season. The team competed at Blue Hills and at Ragged Mountain on weekends in both giant slalom and slalom events. They battled not only bad weather, including frigid temperatures, snow, rain, and heavy fog, but also ever present technical difficulties at Blue Hills and Ragged Mountain, as well as team rivals Notre Dame, B.C. High, and Natick. Both the boys' and girls' teams had strong finishes, girls clinching second place, as well as a qualification for the state championships at Berkshire East, and boys battling out a close fourth place finish to Norwell. Two junior boys, PJ Johnson and Joey Glennon, earned seeds at states by finishing in the top 10 racers of the Ski East League. The girls' team finished 13th at the state championships, racing Captain Emily Doble, seniors Heather Manning and Alexis Dale, sophomores Abby Peterson and Kellie Polonski, and senior Andra Kubulins as an alternate. A huge part of the team's success was due to the constant support and guidance from coaches Mike Ryan and Kim Doble. Great season, guys!

Let it snow, let it snow, let it snow. It was often cold and blustery on the track as the girls practiced, but nasty winter weather was not enough to hinder this group of tough athletes during competition. The Hingham Girls' Indoor Track Team had another successful season as they finished at 7-1 and were Co-Patriot League Champs. The team was led by seniors Jenny Ingersoll in the 55-meter hurdles, Lauren Blanchard in the long distance, and Ashley Mills in the shotput. Stand out juniors over the course of the season were Jocelyn Traina and Samantha Jussier. There were many high-spirited, sprint-to-the-end finishes and many medals awarded at the Reggie Lewis Track and Field Center in Boston, where the team trekked for meets. Biology

Biology - the study of life sciences. This definition was instilled in UHS students during their underclassmen years. The Biology Club embraced the word and utilized the definition at every meeting. The Club Advisor, Mrs. Duffy, was renowned for the many creatures inhabiting her classroom. These included finches, fish, tropical plants, ferns and Peeves, the Iguana (like "pet peeve", of course). Throughout the year, the Biology Club was busy looking after their wide assortment of animals as well as investigating animal tracks. We still have one question: what happened to that missing corn snake?!?

◀ Afternoons in the Biology classroom are always eventful.

Book Club

Shakespeare. Hemingway. James Naipaul. Fitzgerald. Schmidt. Johnson. Joyce. Rowling. Miller. These are some of the lovely, luminous authors of the books read by the Hingham High School Book Club. These avid book readers congregated to analyze and reflect on everything from classic literature to smutty romance novels to the latest raves to silly comic book magazines. These students consumed books at a rate to make a bookworm proud. Book Club coordinator, Mona Minkara, could not be photographed for this page. However, it is likely that she was off with her nose in a book somewhere. Always remember adventures at Barnes and Noble, bon bons, cafe au lait, and late night popcorn parties.

Debate Team

After disappearing for a few years, the Debate Team started up again for the 2004-2005 school year. Led by Advisor Mrs. Shaw and Seniors Cadence Willse, Allie Mayer, and Mona Minkara, members traveled to other schools in their Sunday best to participate in various debates. With a strong core of underclassmen, the team placed well in every competition and vastly improved throughout the year. Students benefited tremendously from the debate experience, which helped them to develop and improve communication and critical thinking skills. As members of the team, the students gained a thorough understanding of general theories, principles of argumentation and current world issues. Students also developed research, critical thinking, and communication skills. Because debate is essential to our society's democratic process and important in successful decision making, the debate experience empowered students to participate more productively in shaping their personal worlds and society as a whole. Spurred on by victory, the team even starred in a segment of the Friday Show, arguing the finer points of silverware use. Cicero himself would have been proud.

Latin

Veniunt. Videntur. Vincunt.

They came. They saw. They conquered. Well, not quite, but the members of the Latin Club spent the year enlivening this classically "dead" language. Under the direction of Mr. Ryan and Ms. Codoyannis, the scholastici held debates and discussions worthy of the Roman Forum, had a Monster Movie Night (starring frightening mythological creatures), and celebrated the festival Saturnalia with a Yankee Swap. The club also organized an excursion into Boston to see the play "Dido, Queen of Carthage". What great feat is next for these culture bugs? Perhaps the staging of the "Aeneid" ... Virgil would be proud.

Math Team

Hingham High School's Math Team was comprised of students from all classes with one thing in common: a love for math. Senior Captain Alexis Dale and Faculty Advisor Mr. Healey led the team through a successful year. On the first Thursday of November, December, January, and February, members participated in math competitions against surrounding towns. Topics of competition included arithmetic, Algebra I, Geometry, Algebra II, and Trigonometry and advanced algebra topics. With their TI-83s handy, the members of the math team did well in their individual rounds as well as in their team rounds. And after a hard afternoon's calculations, there was always free pizza to cheer them up. Great job, guys!

Model United Nations

Pay attention, delegates!

These inspired words came from Uzbekistan via page at the 2002 Harvard Model United Nations conference and guided Head Delegates and Club Presidents Liz Brennan, Amy Long, and Cadence Willse in establishing a sound and successful Model U.N. program at Hingham High School. The group attended conferences at Harvard and the United Nations in New York City, experiencing four days of intense debate and conflict resolution with over 2000 high school students from around the world. As delegates, they represented various countries including Oman, Qatar, Micronesia, the Solomon Islands, Togo, and Lebanon. With Mr. Kirkcaldy (their loveable, cracoated advisor) and diplomatic smiles, the team spent many memorable hours learning the significance of international diplomatic issues.

Oceanography

Something smells fishy...

The oceanography club, under the auspices of Mr. Gauthier, takes an in-depth look at marine life. Literally. Seniors Chris Leahy, Sarah Johnson, Emma Lydon, and Kate Hurley spent hours after school sporting rubber gloves and goggles while dissecting dogfish sharks. These seniors look forward to after school projects and labs when they have the opportunity to practically apply their classroom knowledge. It's tedious and slimy... and SO cool!

Spanish

The Spanish Club has devoted itself to the development of Spanish-culture awareness throughout the school. From the carwash to the candysale, these estudiantes have spent the year fundraising and preparing for a trip to the motherland over spring break. Señora Campbell's passion and enthusiasm for culture and language has instilled in her students an appreciation for all things Spanish.

Arts

Crew

Starting in the show behind the show, all 'crew' members worked tirelessly to create technical magic. Stage managers Amy Long and Laura Reese expertly guided crews that maneuvered furniture and scenery to provide the actors with chairs to sit in, tables to write on, and doors to knock on. They had fun on the headset, communicating easily across stage and with the Booth, the homebase for the sound and lighting crews. Shane McDonough and Angela Traficante, techies, experimented with gels and spots and fake flames. Meanwhile, Hunter Freyer added whistles and bells with microphones and other sound technology. Hannah Hogan artfully designed and painted creative, efficient sets while Angela Hwang led the costume team and Ariel Thibault headed up makeup. Collaborative efforts, indeed.

Drama

With over 150 actors, technicians, and musicians, the Drama Club is the largest club at Hingham High School. The group presents three major performances every year: a fall musical, a one-act entry into the Massachusetts' High School Drama Guild Festival, and a spring play. Members of the club were busy year-round. They kicked off the theater season with a barbeque at Nantasket Beach. They fundraised with the ever-successful bottle-and-can drive. They kicked back in the Green Room on Wednesday afternoons (and Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons, too). They drilled and hammered and painted sets and scenery. They laser-tagged and bonded. They pulled an all-nighter at the Lock-In. They brought Broadway to Hingham and Hingham to Broadway in the annual trip to New York City where they saw, in 2005, Avenue Q, Rent, and Brooklyn. They acted and technicized and loved the limelight, in and out.

Improv Troupe

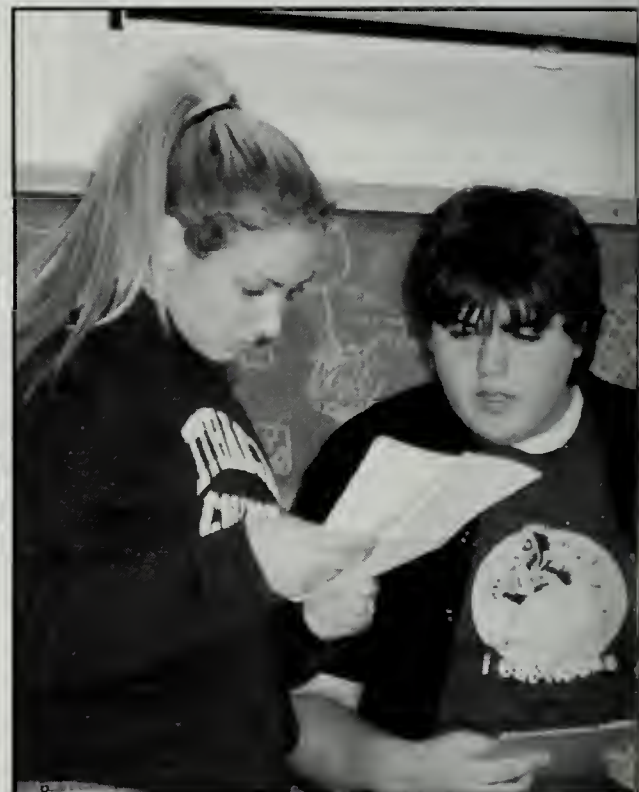

General hilarity ensued every Wednesday night in the Green Room. Why? It was Improv Troupe, going strong in its sixth season and giving Drew Carey a run for his ratings. Led by Senior Jenny Messina and Junior Andy Ryan, Troupe members asked quite a few questions and hosted their fair shares of wild parties. The Troupe, including Molly Keif, Conor Fitzgerald, Ariel Thibault, Hope Sullivant, Amy Long, and underclassmen regulars Mike Campbell, Joe Gianoni, and Jacob Dankner laughed at each other's excuses about work and attempted to keep straight faces as Conor provided a slew of sound effects. The Pajama Game

The high-energy show began with hardworking study man) like Eric Randall, who works for Hasler (Aaron Weiser-Woodward) urging the productivity of the factory workers in "Pacing With The Clock". Handsome Sid Sorokin (Will Hanson) arrives in town as the newly-hired factory superintendent and sparks fly with a member of the union's Grievance Committee, Babe Williams (Jenny Messina). Despite static about the labor versus management issue, Babe is smitten, and though she adamantly denies it in "I'm Not At All In Love". Meanwhile, another romance is on the rocks as Hines gets jealous about Gladys (Sara Gassert), the President's secretary, and her flirtatious behavior. Another secretary, Mabel (Elesse Eddy) offers relationship advice in "I'll Never Be Jealous Again". As the union president, Prez (Andy Ryan), tries to control his raging hormones in "Her Is", Sid and Babe proclaim their love in "There Once Was A Man". After, trouble arises, and high drama and awkward interactions ensue. Babe and Sid break it off, but end up together after Sid saves the company from Prez's evil schemings ("Seven-and-a Half Cents"). the couple are happily united and several metrics.

Traces

The Traces program at Hingham High School offers students the chance to gain vocational skills. The participants spent the morning in classes on campus and went to an offsite building after lunch where they learned woodworking and metalworking techniques. Traces opened the doors to real-world experience and taught valuable practical skills under the direction of Mr. Pawloski. Seniors Chris Wilcox, Drew Cabucio, Ryan Driscoll, Shaun Lentz, Jason Zona, Brian Duross, and Mike Gervasi worked to create bookshelves, coffee tables, lawn chairs, and more. Literary Magazine

Poems. Short stories. Illustrations. Photographs.

Outer Limits was an artistic and literary magazine, which encouraged free thought and creativity. Editor in Chief Leah Lundberg, along with Senior editors Theresa Kelliher and Gizelle Robinson, brainstormed to create the concept of a submission contest. The winning writer or artist received fifty dollars in cash as well as promotion of their work in the magazine. The girls had a significant impact on the Outer Limits magazine over their high school careers. They sketched, scribbled, and slaved to produce a beautiful booklet filled with original artwork. The Literary Magazine was a haven for freethinkers and individuals who were eager to promote self-expression.

Perusal Extra! Read all about it!
You could learn all about HHS happenings in the Harborlight. Whatever tidbits you were craving, whether it was information on current events, music reviews, sports' write-ups, or witty advice, the Harborlight had it. Mrs. Fennelly was the Harborlight Advisor, and with good reason. She had faith in the capabilities of her staff. Editors-in-Chief, Mary Sullivan, Andrew Glavin, and Gizelle Robinson worked hard with the support of a strong staff of reporters and section editors to create many successful editions of journalism magic. Over the years, we watched the Harborlight evolve into an appealing newspaper with diverse topics and innovative ideas. Circulation of the paper expanded to more and more members of the student body, also increasing funds.

Senior Video

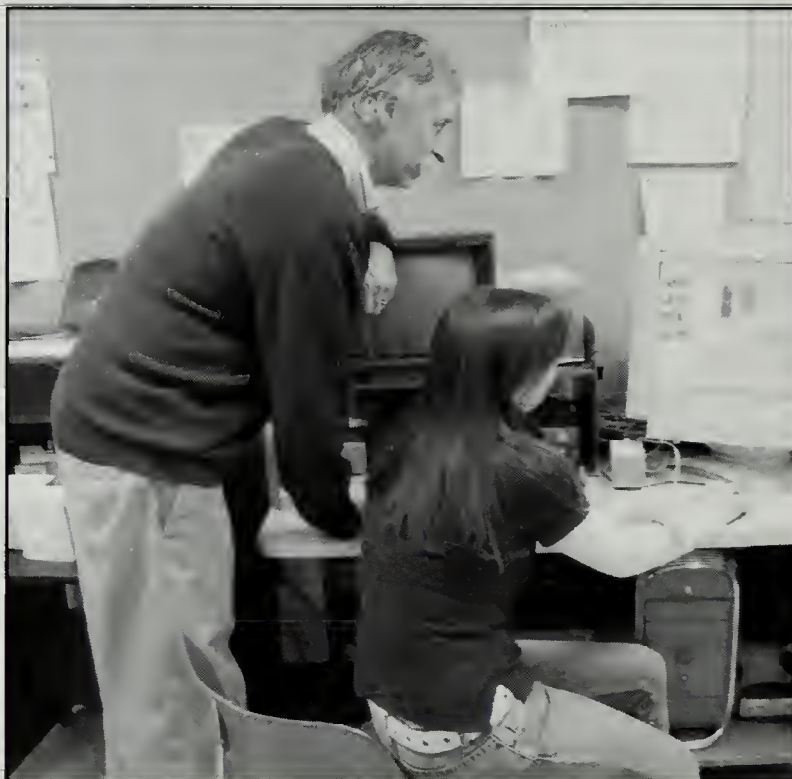

The creation of a senior video is a long standing tradition in the history of Hingham High School. Students with a flair for filming or editing were invited to join the Senior Video Class. With the guidance of Mr. Thaxter, these seniors created a special film for their fellow classmates. Seniors Chris Cheu, Emma Lydon, Joanna Borr, Mollie Ruben, Stephanie Sheedy, Ted Schwartz, and Kyle Ryan spent hours making spectacular memories for the graduating class. After videotaping sports events, music performances, drama productions, dances, and every day life, the class combined these clips into one truly unforgettable video.

WHHS-TV

The WHHS-TV crew proudly brought a little bit of high school magic into homerooms across the school every Friday morning. The shows promoted sporting events, after-school activities, theatrical productions, and often presented humorous skits and video clips put together by students. The production process began on Monday when the crew met to create a layout for the week's program and delegate tasks after examining a schedule of events. From there, they filmed and edited and interviewed. On Thursday afternoon, the WHHS television stars came in to anchor the show and read the announcements. On Friday morning, a stunning broadcast touched the minds and hearts of the student body, inspiring laughter, tears, and awe.

Yearbook

We did not share of problems and crises, but we did it. We really did it. [Leesie starts to hum "We Did It" from (what else?) a Broadway musical, as Leah, Amy, and Garrett groan in unison.] We spent many nights in the yearbook office. And when we say many nights, we mean every night. We drank our own weight in Diet Coke and consumed endless amounts of popcorn for sustenance. We ignored the fridge bacteria, the dirty floor, and even the fuzzy things growing in the microwave. Within that haven, Amy RULZ perpetually, Garret spilled DC, Leesie ate Caesar salad in the bag, and Leah coined funny phrases. Oh, those four walls. How they served as both friend and foe, as everyday in that barricade, our world was colored dreary-day blue. Those walls. They saved us when we needed to hide from class, and they trapped us when we missed the sunshine. That office: a shelter and a prison cell. It was there that tears fell, giggles echoed, sarcasm thrived, and friendships formed. Another year and another staff gone by, and this is the end.

Music

Band

Led by conductor Mr. "I-Swear I-Won't-Stop-This-Time" A. Douglas Wauchope, the HHS Band had another triumphant year. After traveling to Philadelphia, Montreal, and New York City in years past, the band drove down to Washington D.C. to participate in a "Superior-Level" competition, where they performed admirably. President Andra Kubulins, Vice President Ellesse Eddy, Secretary Hannah Lincoln, and Treasurer Kayne Ryan helped the Concert Band as well as the Mozart Ensemble and Jazz Band. They helped all band members to attain new levels of excellence this year. Known as the wildest music ensemble in the school, complete with saxophones, flutes, and tubas, the band shared memorable experiences and bonded over marches with Sousa and the band gang.

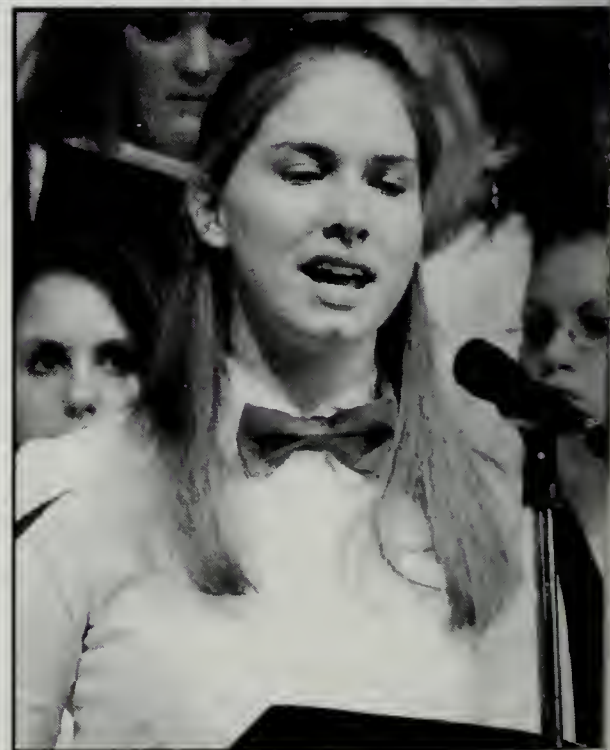

Chorus

With over eighty members, the Hingham High School Chorus was the largest it has ever been. A talented group of musicians led by Dr. Cappers, the group performed in many places over the years, including Philadelphia, Montreal, London, and Providence. For the Major Works Concert, the chorus sang Daniel Pinkham's "Synfonia Sacra," as well as many well-known holiday favorites. Leading the group were President Rachel Litvack, Vice President Mary Sullivan, Secretary Hope Sullivant, Treasurer Theresa Kelliher, Manager Sarah Eaton, Librarian Sara Gassert, and PRs Chris Burke and Alex Herman. With so many members, it's no wonder that this group had such talent. In addition to the Mixed Chorus, Dr. Cappers conducted Choral Spectrum, and for the first time, an all girls group that met before school.

Orchestra

Concerts. Ro-in. Broken string. Gold trophies. Long bus rides. B-flat instead of B-natural.. all reminiscent of Orchestra. As Orch Dorchs, these musicians have traveled to many illustrious locations, namely Philadelphia, Montreal, NYC, and Washington, D.C. Under the direction of Ms. Sassano, the Orchestra has serenaded its audiences with symphonies and fugues by Bach, Vivaldi, Tchaicosky, Dvorak, and Beethoven. The violins, violas, celli, and basses are led by four classically-inclined individuals: President Emily Marshall, Vice Present Aaron W², Treasurer Alissa Mezzetti, and Secretary Kena Roxas. Many Orchestra members doubled or tripled as members of the Chamber Orchestra and/or the Symphony.

Service Organizations

Amnesty International

Amnesty International: working to protect human rights worldwide. Amnesty is an international human rights group that had a strong presence and spirit throughout the school. Led by Faculty Advisor Ms. Roth and President Sasha Williams, the Hingham chapter was particularly active, sponsoring a Benefit Concert for tsunami relief in Indonesia. Members also wrote petitions to demand international freedom and welfare. Topics of discussion included the crisis in the Sudan and in the Middle East. Amnesty International members initiated a movement for awareness, not only in the school community but also in the world around them.

National Honor Society

Scholarship. Leadership. Service. Character. This year, as in years past, NHS members devoted an enormous amount of time to help the community. They logged countless hours on Monday afternoons at the Hingham Interfaith Food Pantry, volunteered at the Special Olympics, and coordinated a school-wide dry-goods drive. Members also proved to be culinary geniuses. They fed and watered the voters on election night in November and even prepared meals for Dove, a battered women's shelter. Strong students across the board, many offered their services as academic tutors to the younger students or read stories at the Hingham Public Library's Children's Story Hour. Under the leadership of Ms. Audet, this band of thirty-eight of Hingham's greatest scholars and leaders had a great year.

Students for Environmental Action

Did you ever notice that curious cluster of kids, huddled in a corner, shooting baskets with yesterday's coke cans? Those students were your local, friendly recyclers known as SEA. Every Thursday, these dedicated environmentalists would collect and sort the accumulated recyclables. These individuals made Hingham High School a positive place. Volunteer

The Volunteer Club, advised by Mr. Smith, met every Friday afternoon to complete a service project. Student leaders Julie Amrhein and Whitney Williams brought fresh ideas and encouraging smiles to all affairs. The Volunteers sponsored a good-bag campaign for all new teachers at Hingham High School, delivering candy, treats, and well-wishes in decorated paper bags. They wrote and designed holiday cards for residents at various nursing homes in the community, bringing cheer and happiness to the lonely elderly. The Club worked with the students at the Cardinal Cushing High School, organizing a program and running events for the disabled students at the school. They raised thousands of dollars for cancer research; the big hearts and helping hands of the Volunteer Club were greatly appreciated.

Student Council

Advised by Mrs. W. W. W. the Student Council is a service-oriented group of student leaders who represent the interests of their respective classes and the student body as a whole. They worked to promote school spirit, leadership, faculty appreciation, and service to the community. President Emily Marshall, Vice President Courtney Wasson, Treasurer Mollie Ruben, and Secretary Carolyn Jeffries worked hard to keep order at Thursday morning meetings while planning and organizing various StuCo events. Student Council members sponsored Homecoming, the Lip Sync competition, and pep rallies as well as the Quote of-the-Month campaign and the Hypnotist show. Strong leaders in the community as well, Student Council members also volunteered at Christmas in the City and the Walk for Hunger. The School Committee, a small branch of Student Council, consists of five student delegates to the Town School Committee. These delegates, led by Seniors Hope Sullivant and Amy Long, were empowered to report on and represent the student body at monthly town meetings.

Student Relations

Anti-Defamation League (ADL)

The Hingham High School chapter of ADL is nationally acclaimed and works to promote acceptance and non-violence in the community. ADL opened the lives of communication for students as peer facilitators took their hours of training and service into the English classrooms to destroy "isms" like racism and Anti-Semitism while showing the values of "R.O.P.E.S" and toleration. Facilitators worked tirelessly to make Hingham High School a safe and accepting place for all students and faculty. Under the direction of Mr. Jewett and Mrs. Krall, ADL also sponsored the White Ribbon Campaign, a non-profit organization endorsing non-violent relationships. Senior facilitators included Emma Lydon, Leslie Osborn, Breanne Ricketts, Laura Reese, Megan Eberle, Jennifer Eberle, and Christine French.

American Field Service (AFS)

▲ Rachael is geared up and ready for the journey.

led by Ms. Gillard, the American Field Service (AFS) has traveled to many different states, including New York, North Carolina, Chicago, and, in 2005, Ohio. Hingham members of AFS participated in a student exchange program, where they went sightseeing and attended school with AFS members in other states. Later in the year, those other AFS members come to Hingham to do the same thing. The club even sent students to other countries. Rachael Gilbert, the treasurer, spent her junior year abroad in France. Other student leaders include Caitlin McGovern (president), Laura Reese (vice president), Susan Fallon (attendance secretary), Dillon St. Leger (correspondence secretary), Jen Berger (junior representative), and Lauren Cardenas and Drew Wojtasinski (PRs).

Gay-Straight Alliance (GSA)

In 2005, under the guidance of Mr. Lalli, there were many exciting endeavors for GSA. A display case was enacted to promote tolerance and acceptance of GLBT (Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual, Transgender) people. For the second year, the GSA showed support for GLAD (Gay & Lesbian Advocates & Defenders,) and were fortunate to have GLAD representatives speak with health classes on GLBT issues. These speakers helped to generate awareness and clarify the stigmas of gay relationships. The GSA had a new bulletin board up with cartoons, statistics, and students' notes. Additionally, the GSA worked to improve the recently-established "Equality Corner," located in the library. Students could borrow books on GLBT issues anonymously. Seniors: Nathan Cassiani, Leah Larned, and Mary Sullivan were pleased with all that was achieved this year. They are enthusiastic to see what is in store for the future of GSA under the influence of underclassmen: Robin Hart-Tilley and spitfire Jessica Brady.

Mr. Lalli IS the hardest working man in show business.

Intergenerational Club

Students and senior citizens worked together through the Intergeneration Club to make the community a better place. Led by Advisor Ms. Milbury and previously by Mr. Schreider, the club had four wonderful years. The club sponsored a winter coat drive in November and December, donating the proceeds to various shelters and relief causes in Hingham and celebrating their success with a delicious potluck dinner. The students became better acquainted with their "elders" at club luncheons where topics ranged from world issues to the success of the Red Sox. In past years, the Club also sponsored guest speakers who spoke on topics that appealed to both generations. President Leonie Roell, Vice President Jen Lberle, Secretary Micaela Mirabassi and Treasurer Liz Brennan made fun for everyone aged 14-94!

◀ Members of all ages get involved in group discussions.

SADD

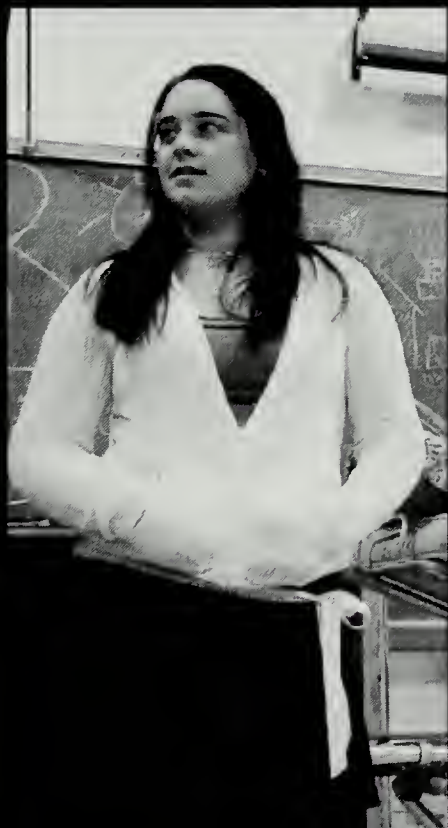

Students Against Destructive Decisions (SADD) crusaded against such tragedies as drunk driving and physical abuse, even working with the White Ribbon Campaign to end male violence toward women. Student officers included Allie Mayer (president), Megan Eberle (vice president), Rachel Litvack (treasurer), and Meghan Carbone (secretary). Along with advisor Ms. Marvel, this group spent hours training in order to educate middle school and high school students on the dangers of alcohol and drug abuse. The club expanded enormously, and even took on new issues, including the importance of wearing seat belts. SADD members helped to nurture a positive learning environment at Hingham High School.

CAITLIN TULLY

2005

Caitlin,

You are our baby, our youngest one.

It's hard to believe that this time has come.

High School years are now over and your life has only just begun. You have so much to offer; your spirit, your laughter, your heart. Enjoy life and remember that learning is always a part. Believe in yourself and shoot for that star; with your family and friends beside you, you will go far! We love you and are so proud of you!

Love, Dad and Mom

Catie,

The best thing about having a sister is that I always have a friend. Chance made us sisters, but choice made us friends. Whatever happens we have each other. Congratulations!

I love you! Good luck in college!

Love Krista XOXO

Wishing you the best toward your future. We are so proud of you Catie. Congratulations; Love Tricia and Andrea

Dear Catie, Congratulations you've made it, we're very proud of you. You will succeed at anything you put your heart in to. Keep smiling you have so much to look forward to. You will always be my favorite birthday present. Love Mary & Christopher

Catie – Good luck next year. Thankx so much for your love and support. You are a friend to me and I'll always be there when you need a hand. Congratulations! Love, Caroline

Catie, Follow your dreams. Believe in yourself. Good luck in all that you do. Love always, Joe and Lisa Caitlin – Take into account that great love and great achievements involve great risks. Aim for success, not perfection.

Visualize your dreams – see them, feel them, believe in them. I love you and am very proud of you.

Much love, Karen.

Caitlin

"Dreams are defined by our hearts our future is designed by our dreams."

This day marks a great achievement for you, but it's only the beginning. Just follow your heart and do your best, all the potential within you is sure to be realized and bring you happiness.

"Congratulations Catie, on your Graduation!"

With much love, Nancy, Billy, Danielle, & Rachel

Catie,

You don't need to look in the mirror, as you get older the more beautiful you get!

Good luck in college. Love, Mike

We love you and are very proud of you. You did it! Nice job Caitlin!

All our love, Eric, Sue, Ryan and Mitchell

Dear Caitlin,

Congratulations on your graduation! We're so proud of you!

Way to go! Love, John, Lauren & Jack

Your beautiful smile lights up our world. The love of our life, our darling girl. We wish you well in all that you do, in all your adventures and everything new. Our love will be with you from year to year. So with family behind you, have no fear.

Love Nana & Bubba

I'm watching over you from above; to guide and protect you with all my love.

Papa

YOU CERTAINLY WERE A BEAUTIFUL BABY !!!!!

BABY LOOK AT YOU NOW !!!!!

A daughter is a wonderful blessing,
A treasure from above.
She's laughter, warmth and special charm,
She's thoughtfulness and love.

A daughter brings a special joy,
That comes from deep inside.
And as she grows to adulthood,
She fills your heart with pride.

With every year that passes,
She's more special than before.
Through every stage, through every age,
You love her even more.

No words can describe the warm memories,
The pride and gratitude, too.
That comes from having a daughter.
To love and cherish... just like you!

WE ARE SO PROUD OF YOU ASHLEY!!!! WE LOVE YOU!!!!!!
Mom, Dad, Stephen, Nanny, Papa, Sheba, Trooper, Petey

Congratulations, Tom and Molly, on all your accomplishments!

We love you!
Your Families

Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover.
~Mark Twain

Congratulations, Danielle!

Love, Pap, Mam, Tutu, and Claire

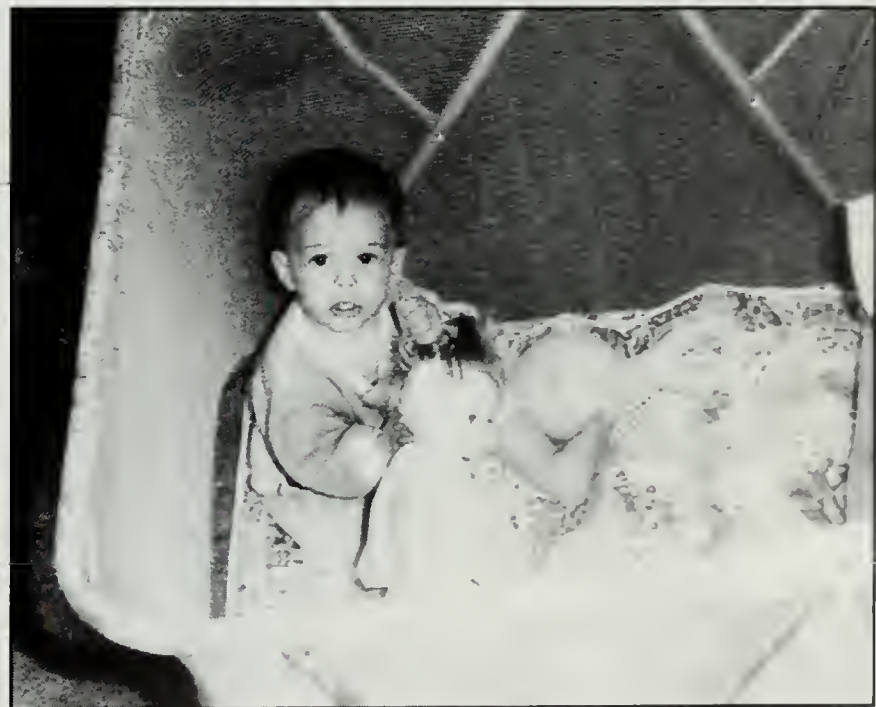

Congratulations, Danielle!

I wonder if you know how often I whisper in my heart, "God keep her safe. I love her so."

Being your mother is one of the most beautiful things that has ever happened to me and I'm so thankful not only because God blessed me with a wonderful daughter but because you've blessed me with your love.

We love you,
Mom, Dad, Nicole, and Michael

Congratulations, Jackie!

You made it!
Love, Mom, Dad, Jenn, and Joe

*Congratulations,
Lauren, Jamie, Michie,
Christine, & Heather!!*

Good luck to you all!

Alo? Salut. She wore a raspberry beret. You're gone, you're gone, and you're onto the next one. Go on, 'cause I won't be back soon. Into the dark black forest. Either the wallpaper goes or I do. All my thoughts run astray and I'm walking cliché. Opinions are like a ~~holes~~ and everybody's got one. Been feeling sentimental for days gone by all those summers sitting, drinking, laughing, wasting out time. I say I've got my best shoes on; I'm ready to go. Oh, Mexico, it sounds so simple, I just got to go. Oh, get me away from here I'm dying.

She's the mayor of crazy town! I will never let you rumble to the ground. Let's go down to the disco. Don't be afraid of the roaming alligators, and save the heart attacks for later. Wake me up before you go-go; don't leave me hanging here like a yo-yo. Thinking 'bout that high school dance; worry about the final. Yes, I know, you're feeling lonely, oh lonely, so lonely. This is a story about a little far boy and everyone made fun of him 'cause he talked funny. Well, she was my catatonic sex toy, love-joy diver. Calm down, release your cares: the stale taste of recycled air. So would maybe come dancing with me?

'Cause it doesn't matter, your hopes and dreams are shattered. When you say something you make me believe in the girl who wears the dirty shirt, she knows exactly what she's worth. But please return, return to the person that you were and I will do the same. It's up to me, now, to turn on the bright lights. Make me feel tiny if it makes you feel tall 'cause there's always someone cooler than you. Yeah you're the star but you won't be it for long. Now I'm singing, 'Baby, don't worry 'cause now I got you back. Anytime you feel like crying, I'm going to try and make you laugh.' Excuse her, day, it's just the way the medication makes her. I think it's almost time, I think it's almost time. Where did your long hair go? We all need to feel secure we're so middle class. I've got a fire in my eyes and boys by my side, they're mine, you know.

Wouldn't it be nice if we were older? Then we wouldn't have to wait so long. And wouldn't it be nice to live together in the kind of world where we belong? Now you're all gone got your make up on and you're not coming back. Images are strong, impulses are strong, and logic will break your heart forever, be brave. Take that, rewind it back. Stop, collaborate, and LISTEN. I been rappin' for about seven teen years, okay? Fire in the disco! All your plastic people with plastic hearts: they had the worst intentions all along.

Congratulations, Class of 2005!
